

PUBLIC CONSULTATION: REGIONAL TRAUMA NETWORK

The Health and Social Care Board (HSCB) has launched a public consultation (14 June 2019) on the Regional Trauma Network. The consultation proposes a new service delivery model for trauma services in Northern Ireland and reports the outcome of an Equality Impact Assessment on the Health and Social Care element of the Regional Trauma Network.

The model aims to enhance existing mental health services so that children, young people, and adults throughout Northern Ireland will have access to the highest quality psychological trauma services. It will be developed in phases and learning from each phase will influence the design and development of the next one.

The consultation documentation can be accessed on the HSCB website <http://www.hscboard.hscni.net/get-involved/consultations>

Responses or requests for further information or alternative formats should be emailed to regionaltraumanetwork@hscni.net or in writing to Geraldine Hamilton, Regional Trauma Network Manager, Health and Social Care Board, 12-22 Linenhall Street, Belfast, BT2 8BS or telephone 0300 555 0115

The Board is encouraging everyone who is interested in trauma services in Northern Ireland to take the opportunity to respond with their views.
